Notes for FRIEDRICH HEINRICH LUDWIG BENNE:

Louis had to quit school in the 6th grade to work for his father in the rock quarries his father owned. Friedrich used to tell Harold many stories of hauling rock wagons across the Mississippi using two mules in the winter when the Mississippi was frozen over.

Louis hauled the rock to help build Broadway Avenue in St. Louis.

Harold thinks he has the letter that Friedrich sent to Louis while Louis was in the army that paid Louis $1.00 for his share of the Grosse-Benne estate which include the rock quarries.

At age 15, Louis was pushed out of the family residence by Friedrich's second wife. He began to ride the railroad as a transient between St. Louis and Palmyra Missouri. He went to work for the Gottman family in Palmyra as a farm hand. He left Palmyra, rode the rails to Albertlee Minnesota where he once again worked as a farm hand.

A few years later, he joined the army BEFORE WWI. He may have been on his second "hitch" when WWI broke out. He was in his very late teens when he joined the army.
